

ABA:70300917

CA1

The image displays two axial brain slices side-by-side. The left slice shows a prominent area of high-intensity activation, indicated by a color gradient from blue to yellow and red, primarily in the posterior region. The right slice shows a much less active brain, appearing mostly as a uniform blue color. A vertical white line is positioned between the two slices, and a horizontal white line is visible across the top of the image.